PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

Very high tariff taxes were imposed during the war, not only on salt but on the smallest necessaries of life that are in daily use, particularly affecting the farming community. These duties have been modified once or twice since 1865, but on the whole have been generally kept up. The war ended twenty-three years ago, and yet we are still paying war taxes. We herewith give a classified list of the duties on each $100 worth of the following articles of general consumption (from the Boston Post), the rates being the payments last year on the actual importations:

The reason given in 1861-65 for these extraordinary taxes on imported merchandise was the necessity of raising money for the defense of the Government. The reason no longer exists. The Treasury, instead of needing all revenue it can obtain, receives annually some one hundred million dollars more than it needs. This being true, a further maintenance of the war taxes is unjustifiable, unless some new and firm ground for them can be taken and held. It is not a desirable position to be compelled to pay high taxes, when no reasonable necessity prevails to justify the outlay.

FREE SHIPS.

The protectionist Philadelphia Telegraph has got the tariff sand out of its eyes, so that it can see its way to advocate the policy of allowing our merchants to buy ships in the cheapest market. We clip from it the following vigorous extract:

If we could buy our ships where England buys hers and sail them under the American flag, our people who lead in all mercantile business would lead in the shipping trade as well. But our suicidal navigation laws are kept on the statute books for the sole benefit of foreigners who loot our commerce to the tune of $200,000,000 yearly, and for a handful of shipbuilders who build no transatlantic going ships and who do not employ a single workman, nor pay an American mechanic one dollar for building one. This, in Washington, is called statesmanship. They seem to understand the real meaning of it better in Great Britain.

CLEVELAND AND THURMAN

The National Democratic Convention met at St. Louis on Tuesday. It was enthusiastic in every sense of the word. After Mr. Barnum opened the convention, the State of California was honored by the selection of S. M. White, of California, for temporary chairman. F. O. Prince, of Massachusetts, was chosen as secretary. On the second day (Wednesday) Grover Cleveland was, of course, unanimously nominated for President. On the third day (Thursday) Allan G. Thurman was unanimously nominated for Vice-President. No party in the history of the American republic ever nominated a better ticket. It is the winning card. Cleveland and Thurman sounds good. It is the battle cry of victory. Hurrah, for Cleveland and Thurman!

DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES.

From National Democratic Platform, 1876.

We denounce the present tariff, levied upon nearly four thousand articles, as a masterpiece of injustice, inequality and false pretense. It yields a dwindling, not a yearly rising revenue. It has impoverished many industries to subsidize a few. It prohibits imports that might purchase the products of American labor. It has degraded American commerce from the first to an inferior rank on the high seas. It has cut down the sales of American manufactures at home and abroad, and depleted the returns of American agriculture—an industry followed by half our people. It costs the people five times more than it produces to the Treasury, obstructs processes of production and wastes the fruits of labor. It promotes fraud and fosters smuggling, enriches dishonest officials and bankrupts honest merchants. We demand that all custom-house taxation shall be only for revenue.

From National Democratic Platform, 1880.

A tariff for revenue only.

From National Democratic Platform, 1884.

Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. * * * The Democratic party is pledged to revise the tariff in a spirit of fairness to all interests. Sufficient revenue to pay all the expenses of the Federal Government, economically administered, including pensions, interest and principal of the bubiic debt, can be got under our present system of taxation, from custom-house taxes on fewer imported articles, and bearing lightest on articles of necessity. We, therefore, denounce the abuses of the existing tariff, and subject to the preceding limitations, we demand that Federal taxation shall be exclusively for public purposes, and shall not exceed the needs of the Government economically administered.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"Crab-Apple" Ingalls struck a Tartar when he fell against Senator Voorhees.

When a new town is growing, all the male inhabitants of the place can drink at the same bar; but they must have at least five kinds of churches to accommodate those of different creeds. What is the cause?

A colored woman, aged 135 years, died last week. The cause of death is unknown, but it is believed to be excessive smoking. The tobacco industry has a great deal to answer for.

The case of Ayres vs. Thompson has been laid over till the 2nd of July.

The Blue Lake shingle mill shut down on Saturday for an indefinite period—possibly two months.

The Eureka base-ball club beat the game with the Arcata club on Sunday. Look out for that $50 on the Fourth.

The North Fork base-ball club was beat by the Blue Lake club in a game of ten to six innings. North Fork club scores two games, and the Blue Lake players one.

The pastor of the Presbyterian church extends an invitation to all singers who desire to aid in forming a choir to meet for practice, at his home, on Friday evening.

The Rev. T. Nugent, of Arcata, held mass on Sunday morning, in the new building of the Roman Catholic Church in this town. The building is still under course of construction.

D. E. Gordon, E. M. Skinner and the literary committee have cut the big liberty pole and hauled it from the woods to the plaza, where it will be placed on the most suitable site by the committee.

The Greenwood strawberry and cream social at Blue Lake, on Saturday evening, was patronized by about twenty-five couple, who had a very pleasant dance and a good strawberry feast with sandwiches, at a cost of a dollar a ticket. Everything passed off satisfactorily to the participants.

The barn warming at the Geer ranch, on Saturday evening, was a very highly enjoyable affair. Over thirty couple were present. Dancing and refreshments, with strawberries and cream, cake and temperance drinks, at the nominal charge of two bits a head, made up a very acceptable and pleasant reunion of friends.

DEDICATION.

On Sunday, June 3d, about one hundred persons assembled at the Protestant church new building in Blue Lake, where dedication services were held. The building has been handsomely finished inside, papered and painted, as noticed in our last issue, and the aisles have been neatly carpeted. The rostrum is also carpeted, and the pulpit is finished in black walnut. About a hundred light colored chairs have been placed for the seating accommodations, and the interior of the edifice presents a neat, comfortable and appropriate appearance in detail.

The church was dedicated for the accommodation and uses of the Presbyterians of this vicinity. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. S. McDonald and Rev. C. H. Emerson. The choir of the Arcata Presbyterian church kindly volunteered for the occasion, and Mr. Greenwood generously loaned his organ for the accompaniments to the vocal music.

The dedicatory program consisted of: Voluntary music by the choir, invocation by Rev. C. H. Emerson, hymn by the choir, reading of the scriptures and prayer by Rev. J. S. McDonald, anthem by the choir, sermon by Rev. McDonald, anthem by the choir, dedicatory prayer by Rev. C. H. Emerson, hymn by the choir, benediction.

In the afternoon the Blue Lake Presbyterian Church was organized by the Rev. J. S. McDonald. Mr. J. R. Frame was chosen and ordained as ruling elder. After the organization of the congregation, the Rev. C. H. Emerson, recently from Nebraska, was chosen by the church and congregation to be their minister for one year.

That saying, "If you don't like it, go elsewhere," made by dealers and persons having commodities for sale in this town, has had its day. It must be stopped. We want all the money we can reasonably obtain kept among home industries. This language has driven many a purchaser to other places, and its persistent use will continue to have that same effect. And, then, some will ask, "Why does Mr. Blank not patronize our home industries?"

At the Blue Lake shingle mill a contest for speed took place on Friday, between Fred Taylor and Sherman Colcoard in packing shingles. The contest lasted for six hours, when Taylor packed 25,000 and Colcoard one thousand more, 26,000 in six hours.

We had expected that the various working committees of the Fourth of July celebration would have handed us a synopsis of their work for the past week for publication, but so far we have failed to learn how the committees are moving. Great bodies move slow.

The regular bi-monthly cyclone has passed in our public school the past few days, and weeping and wailing and knashing of teeth prevails among the precocious youth and terrorized pupils. Let the good work proceed. There is nothing like leather.

Mr. Broderick has under consideration the matter of erecting a new building at the lower end of town, almost opposite the family residence of Mr. Biggs.

The crop of would-be district attorneys among the Republicans of this county is quite numerous.
